

I am currently helping my daughter's volleyball team raise money for breast cancer awareness and wanted to come up with a design to help her decorate her "Jar for Jugs". I loved creating the hope ribbon.

I am in the middle of scheduling Mark Ludy, author of The Flower Man, for an author visit to our school. I thought this flower would be a great way to advertise his visit. Thinking of other ways to include the titles of his books for further adds.

I wrote symphony on a path and used the sponge technique. I thought this represented how a symphony goes up and down. I also included music notes to help get my point across. I need a lot more practice!
